"Unless one is a genius, it is best to aim at being intelligible."
Anthony Hope Hawkins, author

Overview

'Simply Business Writing' offers proven strategies for creating written communication that is concise and relevant while still being warm and authentic. The result: engaging writing that builds vital rapport with an unseen reader.

Process

'Simply Business Writing' is an intensive one-day workshop that brings business writing to life. Crisp, clear and logical written messages are built through a series of relevant examples and fun, memorable yet practical exercises that equip participants with a set of reliable skills.

Combining the well established, highly acclaimed "Pyramid Principle" of Barbara Minto, with some thoroughly modern, online readability tests, this workshop offers the necessary tools for making all our writing more powerful, persuasive and relevant.

Consider As with all communication, doing your audience research is foundational. We must write for the benefit of the people who will actually read our document.

Construct There must equally be a sequential flow that builds a story of logic. A framework to make the writing process easier and the reading a breeze.

Compel Dull, dry documents are desperately difficult to digest! We need to actively reach out to engage the reader, bring it to life and make it overtly relevant for them.

"I can use everything that we covered in the session immediately in all of my work - highly relevant! It will save me heaps of time and help me focus on a clear message that connects with the reader."
